Minutes of the 241st Annual Convention of the Episcopal Church in Connecticut

Friday, October 24, 2025

Held at the Bristol Event Center in Bristol, Connecticut In accordance with the Constitution of the Diocese of Connecticut, the Two Hundred and Forty-First Annual Cvention of the Diocese was held on Friday, October 24 and Saturday, October 25, in a place designated by the Bishop with the consent of the ECCT Mission Council. Following check-in, the Convention was called to order at 3:18 PM by the President of the Convention, the Rt. The Rev. Jeffrey Mello, Bishop of Connecticut.

Land Acknowledgement and Opening Prayer

The Reverend Diana Rogers offered a Land Acknowledgement and led a prayer for Indigenous children and families affected by residential schools:

We acknowledge the Tunxis, Mohican, Paugussett, and Wappinger people, the traditional custodians of the land now known as Bristol, Connecticut. We acknowledge all of the Indigenous peoples of Connecticut on whose traditional land the parishes and worshipping communities of ECCT are located. We pay respect to their elders and people, past, and present. As people continually growing in God's grace, we commit to participating in God's dream of restorative justice and in creating a better future for all people by caring for creation and by acknowledging the colonizing role that Christianity has played in the history of Connecticut and the Indigenous People of this land. This acknowledgement is an intention and only one step toward creating authentic relationships and taking meaningful steps toward a more just future for all who share this land.

As a sign of our intention to work toward justice and our acknowledgement of past sins, we offer this prayer for those Indigenous children and families harmed by living in residential schools that stripped them of their culture and their language. The following prayer was written and has been in use by Indigenous Episcopalians and was offered as a gift to the wider Episcopal Church:

A Prayer to Remember the Innocents

Dear Lord, Almighty God, we pray for all Indigenous children who were in residential and boarding schools in Canada and the United States. Some died there; we ask that you give assurance to their descendants that their souls are with you and their ancestors. Some survived there; we ask that you give your healing grace to all who endured hardship while there and are still struggling with those memories. Lastly, we ask you to help us guard our children against harm in this world. All this we ask in the name of your Son, Jesus Christ, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, now and for ever. Amen.

Opening Liturgy

James Williams, Summer Camp Programs Director at Camp Washington, officiated an opening liturgy. Youth from the diocese led the prayers.

ECCT Archives Annual Convention Report, 2024-2025

The ECCT Archives have had a productive year, working with researchers, corporate partners, and diocesan staff members to move forward its programs of advocacy and record preservation. As always, I remain deeply grateful to so many who place trust in the diocese's efforts to manage its archival records and who support and join in their care and enduring development.

Two principal aims guide the Archives program: to provide its users with unique information assets and to ensure the ongoing preservation of ECCT's archival resources. Since last year's convention, the Office of the Archives has responded to 165 archival historical inquiries, 17 sacramental record requests, and 15 inter-office research inquiries. In this work, I am pleased to report that our archival resources continue to provide meaningful and timely information for diocesan leadership, affiliate organizations, parish communities, and individual researchers.

The ECCT Archives have achieved certain technological milestones for archival repositories over the past year, including its recent partnership established with Lyris, a data management company that now is providing ECCT with a cloud-serviced archival database. This partnership is significant not only for the preservation reliability that we now have for our database resources, but also in the cutting-edge software (ArchivesSpace) that this platform provides, keeping us current in its most recent advances. The Archives also has published its own digital archive website <https://ecct1archives.omeka.net> which offers extensive information resources related to the history of the Episcopal Church in Connecticut. This digital archive portal focuses primarily on the historic life of CT parish communities, organizations, and individuals who have been influential through their participation in God's mission. The Archives also continues in its work to capture online websites of parishes <https://archive-it.org/collections/13331> and the social media platforms used by ECCT to connect and inform its members.

Other notable projects from the Archives this year include the conversion of microfiche files to digital format of a number of recorded correspondences of SPG missionaries in New England during its colonial period; the silversmith conservation of the bishop's crozier (1884), gifted by the Diocese of Aberdeen and cared for by Christ Church Cathedral; the production of updated apostolic succession posters to share with CT parishes; the digitization of episcopate files of the Rt. Rev. Frederick Grandy Budlong; and the arrangement and description of ECCT's artifact collection.

The Parish History Researchers' Forum [PHRF] also continues to thrive as a working-group of parish historians and scholars of history engaged in taking steps to discover and document their community's historic complicity in racism. In this collaborative work, I wish to extend my heartfelt thanks to all the faithful researchers who have presented their findings to our Forum and to the Rev. Canon D. Littlepage for cofacilitating the PHRF with me. Recent published contributions have been made by parishioners from St. Paul's, Norwalk (led by Ms. Gail Bindley-Taylor), St. Matthew's, Wilton (led by Ms. Sharon Ely Pearson), and St. Peter's, Hebron (Mr. John Baron, historian consultant). As noted in past convention reports, the collection and preservation of any and all recorded stories or documentation from our diocesan parishes or worshipping communities related to this goal stands as a central program agenda for the Archives. As always, I also would like to offer my special thanks to the diocesan archivists of NE Province I for their ongoing consultation, as well as to the long-standing members of the ECCT Archive Advisory Council [AAC]; namely, The Rev. Dr. Andrew Zeman; The Rev. Steven Ling; The Rev. Canon Robert G. Carroon, ECCT Historiographer; Ms. Evelyn B. Green, retired Library Specialist, Cigna Group; Ms. Margaret Smith, former ECCT Archivist; the Rev. Tuesday Rupp and the Rev. Canon Harlon Dalton. I would like additionally to extend my gratitude and my fond farewell to Dr. Stephen McGrath, Historian and Emeritus CCSU Professor, for his service on the Council, as well as a gracious and warm welcome to the AAC's new members, Ms. Sharon Ely Pearson and Ms. Gail Bindley-Taylor. Finally, I would like to sincerely thank Bishop Jeffrey Mello and Bishop Laura Ahrens for their continued leadership of our diocese and their shared commitment to supporting the mission of the Archives in preserving and providing access to ECCT's historical records, manuscripts, and artifacts.

Respectfully submitted,

Greg Farr
ECCT Director for Archives & Record Management

Camp Washington Annual Report

Greetings from Camp Washington- The Camp & Retreat Center for the Episcopal Church in Connecticut. Since 1917, Camp Washington has been continuously providing a place for reflection, exploration, and spiritual growth. Camp Washington is best known for its residential co-ed summer camp for all God's children, of many faith backgrounds ages 5-16. In addition to Camp, year-round formation opportunities are offered for adults and youth to come away and experience God's creation in a place of renewal, rest, and community. A place for all God's people whoever they are, wherever they are in their journey.

Under the leadership of our wonderful director James Williams, our Summer Camp program provided six weeks of co-ed residential camp for nearly 200 campers. As always, need-based financial aid was provided for every camper family that requested it. We continue to reach out to urban parishes, and community organizations, fostering relationships and encouraging camp opportunities for children at risk because of various life scenarios. This work is challenging, and slow to produce measurable results.

We are constantly evaluating our programs, facilities, and staffing to consider new ways to respond to the needs of God's people, our diocese, and the world. The CW Youth Group on the Move- now in year two, is an opportunity for all youth in Middle and High School across the ECCT to participate in youth group activities. Hosted by various parish youth groups in regions around the diocese, we are listening, learning, and responding to the needs of our youth. Our Farm/Creation program continues to grow as we welcomed three goats and twelve chickens to the CW family this Spring. Our new friends help our guests further appreciate the gifts of food, life, and companionship and for many is their first experience with gardens, harvest, cooking, and the power of animals.

We are grateful to the many parishes and individual donors whose gifts encourage us to dream and allow us to implement new ideas and programs.

Camp Washington is a brave, safe space for all God's people that inspires, connects, and transforms. We offer our very best- a table overflowing with food, diversity, acceptance, and love. There is always a place for you at the Camp Washington table.

With gratitude,

Bart Geissinger, Executive Director

Creation Care Network Convention Report

The Creation Care Network is increasingly becoming a resource for best environmental practices in worship, education and action. Our Chair, the Rev. Anita Schell, worked closely with Terri Eickel of IREJN to provide worship resources for the observation of Sun Day, a nation-wide event to support the expansion of solar energy. Members of the Network also continue to serve on the Diocesan Convention Planning Team to ensure the use of sustainable practices.

Speakers at Network meetings

At our monthly meetings we have invited speakers to inform and engage Network members (and by extension their congregations) in various Creation Care initiatives:

- Rhea Drozdenko, River Steward at the CT River Conservancy presented a slide show describing her work in environmental restoration, advocacy and education in CT.
- The Rev. Stephanie Johnson, a member of the Episcopal delegation to COP 29 (Conference of Partners) in 2024 presented an overview of the Conference and her experience attending it remotely.
- Terri Eickel, Exec. Director of CT's Interfaith Eco-Justice Network (IREJN) described the organization's programs to help parishes with energy efficiency, divestment of fossil fuel investments, community gardens and orchards as well as its encouragement of advocacy on environmental issues.
- The network has also heard presentations from the CT League of Conservation Voters, and we greatly value our ongoing work and relationship with the Rev Rachel Field of The Episcopal Path to Creation Justice.

Season of Creation Devotions

This year members of the Creation Care Network teamed up The Episcopal Path to Creation Justice to provide a Province-wide series of Daily Devotions centered on wildlife who share our local ecosystems. The Devotions were contributed from Episcopalians from around Province One and were distributed via email by the Communications staff of the Diocese of Western Massachusetts. 986 people signed up to receive the Devotions which were available as well on The Episcopal Path's website. Costs for the project were provided by an ECCT Network Grant. The Devotions were also co-sponsored by the newly-founded Province One EcoRegion for which Bishop Laura has provided significant leadership.

Bishop's Address

*Offered at Bristol Event Center on Oct. 25, 2025
by the Rt. Rev. Jeffrey W. Mello, Bishop Diocesan.*

Well, good morning, Church! I wish you had the view that I have right now. You look amazing! It is so incredible to be here in this crowded ballroom filled with faithful Episcopalians. If anybody this week asks you what you did, simply say: "I went to church with 500 other people this weekend."

As you may already know, or have a sense, Diocesan Convention is something to which I look forward to with great anticipation every single year. I love everything about it. I love coming together as a whole, a family reunion of the very best kind, and seeing the breadth and depth of the faithfulness of Episcopalians across Connecticut.

I love how we do business together. I am always in awe to be part of a Church in which our life together is discerned, and decisions are made, by the people, lay and ordained, of the Church.

I am increasingly thankful to be part of a tradition in which faithful agreement, and disagreement, carried out in covenanted community, is at the cornerstone of our common life.

And I love that we have a chance, as the Body of Christ gathered, to share in this feast of Christ's Body and Blood, and to break bread with those from across ECCT whose name we might never learn, but to whom we are bound in sacred relationship.

And so, I love our Annual Diocesan Convention. And I'm grateful that each of you is here this morning.

But I would be lying to you if I didn't tell you that, this year, my excitement has been in conversation with some trepidation.

We are living in a time in which who we are and what we have to offer as the Body of Christ organized as the Episcopal Church in Connecticut is critical to the world.

It is time for us as Episcopalians in Connecticut to be preaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ with courage, with boldness, and with clarity. We need to be preaching the Good News in our congregations, in our neighborhoods, on our social media accounts, and at our dinner tables.

And we need to preach it in word and example as we promise: "We will, with God's help."

I absolutely believe that this is a time for which the Episcopal Church was made. I believe that our congregations and our communities in ECCT can have incredible impact in our neighborhoods and in the lives of those who are longing to know what it is we proclaim to know, though they might not know the same words to use that we use—or they might not yet know that they might just find what it is their heart is longing for on the other side of our red doors.

I haven't known in my lifetime a more critical time to proclaim the Good News of Jesus Christ as I have received it in the Episcopal and Anglican traditions than the moment we are in right now.

My excitement this morning with you all lies in the possibilities and potential for transformation and renewal that exist in every corner of our Diocese, and where it is already happening—and it's happening everywhere, as witnessed by the cards hanging on either side of the room, filled with examples of how we, as ECCT, are already growing in faith, living in hope, and serving in love.

My trepidation this morning finds its home in the question of whether or not we will, as the Episcopal Church in Connecticut, have the will, the courage, and the boldness needed to realize the potential of the present moment, and to turn the possibilities of hope that exists into the actualities of our common life together.

There's a joke of sorts that the Episcopal Church is the world's best kept secret.

But as I look at the world around me today, I don't think that's funny anymore.

I have no interest in keeping that secret anymore. Do you?

Pundits ask the blogosphere: "Is the Church still relevant?"

Well, it's relevant to me. It's where I met Jesus. It's where I was first held in God's saving Grace, and where I was transformed by the love of God. And it is where I have seen countless others find the same.

And I'm guessing that the Church might be relevant to you all, or you wouldn't have given up a Saturday morning to tend to its care and to its health.

But our relevance does not come from what kind of music we sing, what vestments we wear, or how large or small our worshipping communities might be. Our relevance comes from our clarity of who we are and why we do what we do. Our relevance is in Jesus Christ. Members of the Body of Christ is who we are, and in order to follow Jesus more closely, is why we do what we do.

So, I wonder if the question we might want to ask ourselves this 241st Convention isn't whether the Church is relevant or not—but is it willing or not; is it capable or not; is it convinced or not; is it courageous or not; and is it bold or not?

Where it is already all of those things, and I know it is, how do we build on that?

And where it isn't quite yet, how do we help it to become?

I can tell you that, based on what Bishop Laura and I see on our visitations, and what we hear in our conversations with you, is that you are willing, you do want to be more bold, and you are increasing daily in your courage and in your witness. Thanks be to God! And we've got work to do, friends. Thanks be to God.

Some of that work, this past year, we have continued to make progress on the objectives first set out at convention two years ago. The staff at The Commons have continued the work of mission alignment, moving resources toward the work of supporting you all—the laity, clergy, congregations, and communities of ECCT—to do the work God is calling you to do in deep and powerful ways.

We have hired two of the three strategic positions created as part of the reorg and realignment. Marsha McCurdy Adell has engaged already in the work of supporting our lay leaders, creating opportunities for training and formation, and examining and developing our licensing processes to make sure our lay leaders have what they need to do the ministries to which they have been called.

The Rev. Jill Morrison recently joined us as Director of Congregational Development & Networking and is already making an impact connecting congregations with needed resources and providing support to our Region Leadership Teams and our Ministry Networks.

We continue to examine ways to lift the burdens of managing the many administrative tasks that steal precious time and resources that could be better spent on doing mission and ministry in your local contexts.

We are confronting head-on the very real challenges facing our congregations without settled clergy, of our clergy serving parishes less than full time, and those places where the Church is growing—but the resources aren't quite keeping up.

We are embracing what it means to be a nimble Church, not afraid of experimenting, and learning from the experiments we try.

Of course, there is a lot more work still to be done in all of these areas, and we are willing, we are able, and we are committed to doing that work.

Three years ago, at my first convention, just two weeks after my consecration, I told you that I suspected we had some work to do, we were going to need to do, before we would be able to move more fully into the work we were longing and aching to do.

And this year, just about on cue, something in our conversations began to shift. At visitations and meetings of our Diocesan Leadership bodies, the tone began to change. Your questions and ideas have started to become more strategic, adaptive, and visionary in nature. While the technical challenges we find there amongst the weeds are still there, I have felt as though our collective heads have begun lifting up and over those weeds to look to the horizon and ask ourselves: "Where are we headed?" and "How will we get there?"

And I couldn't be more excited for the shift.

As I mentioned yesterday, in September, we gathered the members of Leadership Gathering, made up of our Mission Council, Standing Committee, Commission on Ministry, and Trustees of Donations & Bequests and we asked them three questions to consider:

First, "What has ECCT been paying attention to?"

Second, "What do you wish ECCT was paying attention to?"

And third, "What does ECCT need to be paying attention to?"

Well, I was delighted—and relieved, honestly—that the answers to these three questions were in alignment to the conversations and questions we have been having as your Bishops and The Commons staff. And they weren't just about the challenges in front of us, but the abundant possibilities and dreams for what might lie in front of us.

We want and need to be continuing to address the challenges of clergy shortages, increasing expenses, exhausted leadership both lay and ordained, and explore more opportunities for collaborative ministry.

Canon Olds has done great work to continue to develop our Transition process in order to meet congregations where they are and to help them to discern where God is calling them next.

And with Bishop Ahrens' faithful leadership and guidance, we are seeing parishes coming together in new ways, creating opportunities for collaboration and new ways of being Church together.

We must not back away, or back down from, our commitment to Advocacy, Racial Justice & Reconciliation. I am grateful for the work of the Racial Justice Task Force, the Reparations Fund Board, and to Canon Littlepage as they work toward a long-term and sustainable approach to that critical work.

But let's be clear, friends. Creating the Board and moving some money does not complete the work of dismantling systemic racism and white supremacy in our world, or even in the Church. There is more work for us to do.

We desperately need to develop our support for Children, Youth, and Young Adult ministries. Our young people are hungry for the Good News, and if we are not going to be there in those spaces to tell them that Good News, we can't complain when they find it someplace else.

We can and we must do much better by our elders, who have served our Church for decades, only to find the Church ill equipped to support them fully as they grapple with aging, failing health, memory loss, retirement, and isolation.

This fall, as we gather here today, we are working to develop needs assessment for these critical ministries. But we want positions that hold real possibility of support, a transformation and renewal in these areas, not just a position on staff that we can point to and makes us feel as though the work has been done.

I have heard your concern, as recently as yesterday, that this work just might be too much for one person, or require too varied a skillset. I wonder the same things. And if that is what we find, I commit to working with our Mission Council to ask them for their creativity, and generosity, to make that happen.

Supporting you all, the congregations and communities of ECCT, for you to do the work of forming disciples, helping you to do the work of helping God out there in the world, that is my hope and vision as your Bishop. And it is a hope and vision I see materializing bit by bit by your good work and continued faithful leadership.

But to do it well, and to do it faithfully, it is time for us to tell the world its best kept secret.

It's time to speak with courage, with boldness, and with clarity about who we are as the Episcopal Church in Connecticut and what we know the Church – not simply the institution, but the people who are the living Body of Christ – have to offer the world in this time.

We need to do this not simply in the hope of more bodies in pews, and not just in hope of moving more bodies out of pews out into the world—although those are great byproducts of this work.

It is time to tell the world who we are, what we are about, and who we know Jesus to be, because the world is suffering. It is broken and it is hurting.

And we have a message of love, a message of healing, redemption, and resurrection the world desperately needs to hear in this time.

As many of the structures and systems of support that have existed in our common civil life crumble and disappear, it will become even that much more important to us, for us, through our churches, our communities and congregations, to do the work of caring for the least among us.

We need to support the weak, strengthen the fainthearted, stand with those who are persecuted, and honor all persons.

And friends, we need to do this work not because it's popular. Not because it's the platform of one political party or another, but because Jesus Christ demands it of us, and nothing less from us.

That is who we are: to be made more and more into the likeness of Christ is our greatest hope.

We can disagree with one another. And we do, and in fact, faithful disagreement is a cornerstone of healthy community. But we cannot, we must not, treat one another as the enemy.

We cannot, we must not, let the powers of fear and apathy, of anger or resentment become the gods we worship.

We have one identity, and that is in Christ.

We need to be clear about who we are and what we are about.

And so, I offer to you our theme for this year's convention, which I hope might guide our work and our vision for who we are, and who we are working to become as the Episcopal Church in Connecticut. Centered in Christ, we are: Growing in Faith. We are Living in Hope. And we are Serving in Love.

Growing in Faith: we are committed to the ongoing formation of all the people of God, young and old, lay and ordained, cradle Episcopalian, and hesitant seeker. We will continue to worship together, to study scripture together, to learn new ways of living our lives of faith.

Living in Hope: we are a people of the resurrection; a people who refuse to stay stuck in Good Friday. We will not let the narrative of church decline define who we are, but we will seek new and creative ways to be the Church God still needs for us to be. We will plant new locations and lift up new vocations. We will continue the work of Advocacy, Justice & Reconciliation as though we actually believe it's possible to achieve.

We will tell our story boldly and with courage as though it just might make a difference in this world.

Serving in Love: we will continue to break out of the four walls of our congregations to take our places as servants of all, as Jesus modeled for us.

We will love one another first, because we are free to love one another before we know whether or not we like each other very much. It is the great gift of being a follower of Jesus. We will serve alongside each other to feed the hungry, shelter the unhoused, care for the immigrant, and protect those who have been marginalized. And we get to do that work united in our desire to serve in love, without regard for the differences between us that threaten to divide us.

ECCT, you already know this. It is who you are and it is what you continually witness to me and to each other.

And it is the work in front of us. Centered in Christ, we will continue to grow in faith, to live in hope, and to serve in Love.

It is who we are as the Episcopal Church in Connecticut. It is a vision for who we pray we might become, and it is a roadmap for how we might just get there.

So friends, can I tell you a secret?

The Episcopal Church in Connecticut are faithful followers of Jesus Christ who are Growing in Faith, Living in Hope, and Serving in Love. That is who we are, and this is exactly the time for which the Episcopal Church in Connecticut was made. Now, let's go tell everyone!

AMEN

ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION COMPONENTS AND REQUIREMENTS

Less than Half-Time Clergy: Clergy employed at less than half-time who perform the duties of a Rector or Priest in Charge as outlined in church canons. The number of hours worked per week is determined by the parish's financial capacity and negotiations between the vestry and the priest, as specified in the Letter of Agreement. The minimum for a less-than-half-time Priest in Charge is 8 to 12 hours per week (quarter time), and the maximum is 19 hours.

First Year of Ordination: The first full-year rate is for the first year following ordination to the Diaconate. Beyond that first year, the rate used should be under the category of full-time assistant or Priest-in-Charge, as appropriate.

Incremental Increase: An incremental step in minimum salary for each year of ordination applies to all clergy except for Transitional Deacons and Priests during the first year of ordination. Rather than prorating the increase for the exact date of ordination, it is recommended that the incremental step be paid as of January 1st for the entire calendar year after the year of ordination. For example, if someone is ordained to the diaconate in 2023, the higher salary rate applies beginning January 1, 2024. This increment is prorated based on the agreed-upon hours of employment (e.g., clergy employed at 3/4-time will receive 3/4 of the full-time incremental increase).

Cash Salary: Compensation, including bonuses and the Social Security Allowance (SSA), and excluding any reimbursement allowances and other professional fees. If your priest has participated in a tax-sheltered annuity/salary (403b/401k) deferment plan, for pension purposes, assessments are still based on the original, unreduced cash salary.

Housing and Utilities: Compensation packages for clergy working half-time (20 hours) or more should include housing and utilities (i.e., church-owned housing or suitable housing allowance for clergy-owned or rented housing). A housing allowance will be determined in conjunction with the diocesan staff based on housing costs in the parish community and the clergy's full-time equivalent status. If the parish provides housing, it must pay 100% of the utilities, which include oil/gas, electricity, sewer/water, garbage/recycling, and basic cable, telephone, and internet services.

Social Security Allowance (SSA): 2024 Estimated SE and Medicare tax rate is 15.3% on the first $168,600 and 2.9% on earnings beyond that threshold.

For Clergy Who Receive	Factor
Church-provided Housing with no HEA	.1355 (Cash Salary + Utilities)
Pay Housing allowance	.1011 (Cash Salary + Housing + Utilities)
Church- provided Housing and HEA	.1415 (Cash Salary + Utilities)

To determine the Medicare tax obligation for total compensation packages exceeding $168,600, multiply the amount over $168,600 by 1.74% (which is 60% of 2.9%, as described above) to calculate the additional amount to be added to the previous factors when determining the total Social Security Allowance.

Housing Equity Allowance: Clergy who have completed five full years of ministry after ordination (Diaconate) and who reside in church-provided housing are eligible for a Housing Equity Allowance (HEA). HEA should be included in the cash salary portion of compensation when reporting to the Pension Fund. The standard allowance factors are the minimum requirement; there is no restriction on enhancing the minimum allowances.

- Clergy who are provided housing by the church or employing agency are entitled to a Housing Equity Allowance (HEA) equal to 3.9% of their compensation.
- For parishes that provide housing, $HEA = 0.039 \times [\text{Cash Salary} + \text{SSA} + \text{Utilities}]$
- Clergy who has not completed five years of ministry after ordination are not eligible for the Housing Equity Allowance.

Professional Expenses: Parishes should allocate an annual professional expense allowance to reimburse documented expenses in accordance with a Vestry-approved, accountable plan. Travel related to church businesses should be reimbursed at the IRS mileage rate, which is $0.70 per mile for 2025. Updated mileage rates are available on the IRS Standard Mileage website <https://www.irs.gov/tax-professionals/standard-mileage-rates>

Continuing Education: The Continuing Education amount for 2026 is $1,850.00, which serves as reimbursement for clergy working half-time or more on continuing education and as a contribution toward the expense of the annual clergy conference. A week of continuing education time away from the parish (not counting a Sunday) is part of this allowance for full-time clergy.

Group Life, Medical & Dental (GLMD) Insurance: Health plan selection and coverage specification (e.g., single person, two persons, family) are left to the sole discretion of the employee. Parishes must contribute at least 85% of the cost of medical insurance premiums for clergy or lay employees regularly scheduled to work 1,500 hours or more per year. If parishes have been paying 100%, they are encouraged to phase in employee contributions. The employer must pay 100% of the premiums for life insurance coverage for all clergy. Minimum medical insurance contributions for part-time clergy are based on the part-time guidelines. Complete eligibility guidelines can be found in The Commons Companion.

Vocational Deacons: Each Episcopal organization with a serving deacon must pay $25 (twenty-five) per month to their deacon as compensation, and each such organization must also make the required contribution to the Church Pension Fund for the deacon's benefit. Vocational Deacons are provided with travel and expense allowances and opportunities for continuing education. When deacons are employed in paid stipendiary positions within the Episcopal Church or in qualified Episcopal Church agencies, the employing church or agency must pay assessments to the Church Pension Fund (CPF) in accordance with the CPF's formulas and regulations for ordained clergy.

PARTICIPATING IN GOD'S MISSION

EXHIBIT A: Hiring Process for ECCT Staff Positions

Adopted on an interim basis by Mission Council, March 1, 2025

- The applicants will be asked to complete a voluntary data survey as a part of scheduling the screening interview.
 - The survey would be an online form that reiterates that it is entirely voluntary and asks the applicant to self-identify their racial and ethnic background.
 - The survey responses would be kept completely separate from any application materials (which are emailed to the ECCT Director of Human Resources).
- Once the list of finalists is identified, the Director of HR will be given access to the data in order to analyze it based on the following parameters:
 - Five or fewer applicants interviewed: no analysis needed; no exception from Mission Council needed if resolution requirements not met.
 - Six to ten applicants interviewed: If 20% or more of the respondents to the survey identify as a person of color then the resolution applies.
 - 11 or more applicants interviewed: If 25% or more of the respondents to the survey identify as a person of color then the resolution applies.
- If the resolution applies and the list of identified finalists appears to not to meet the requirements the following actions should be taken:
 - A summary of candidates interviewed (with names removed) including a brief summary of the interview and why the candidate was or was not considered to be a finalist should be submitted to the convenor of the Mission Council Hiring Committee (MCHC) by the Director of HR.
 - Within 3 business days, the Convener of MCHC will gather the MCHC for a meeting or solicits votes via email as to which of the following options should be pursued:
 - Grant a waiver from the requirements of the resolution;
 - Request a conversation with the hiring manager(s) about the ability to comply with the resolution; or
 - Request that the application process be reopened.

- The decision of the majority of the MCHC will be communicated to the Director of HR. If the hiring managers disagree with the decision of the committee, the matter can be taken to the full Mission Council.
